A. S. RHODES SPRINGHOUSE.

Bull Run Road adjacent to Bettis Airport.

Allegheny County, Pa.

Owner - Bettis Airport, Pittsburgh, Dravosburg Road, near Dravosburg, Pa.

Date of Erection - Probably before 1850.

Present Condition - Good, excepting that a small section of masonry at southwest corner has collapsed due to failure of a basement window frame.

Number of Stories - The structure is located on a hillside and consists of basement, first story, and loft.

Materials of Construction - Walls are of roughly shaped rubble stone: framing and floors are of oak: trim is of white pine: roof has been resingled, and chimney top rebuilt at a recent date.

Other Existing Records - A brick dwelling and a log house adjacent to the springhouse are illustrated on page 135 of a work entitled "History of Allegheny County" published in 1876 by L. H. Everts & Co., Philadelphia, Pa. Here the property is listed as that of A. S. Rhodes.
Refer also to the records of the Western Pennsylvania
Architectural Survey.
